

What do you believe about life after death?

The idea from Hindu tradition makes good sense even if you can't prove it: the soul is reborn according to karma and we return to 'try again' at the game of life. Not impossible.

I believe 'everything happens for a reason' and we may find out more about the reasons of our lives after we die. Consciousness can live on.

It is not gloomy to accept the truth: wishful thinking is not for grown-ups. We die, and that's it. Remember with love!

When the body dies, nothing of the person can live on. We die with our physical selves. There's no credible evidence of afterlife.

It's impossible to know about life after death. We will only find out by dying, so we have to be agnostic about the possibilities of heaven and hell, reincarnation and rebirth.

I don't believe in heaven and hell or paradise, but I do believe there must be something after death, and I think we will be reunited with our dead loved ones.

Instructions:

Put an X along each spoke to illustrate how far you agree with the statement at the end of it.

- If you agree with the statement, put your X close to it.
- If you disagree with the statement, put your X by the centre of the snowflake.

Join up the Xs to make your unique snowflake shape, which can then form a basis for debate with others as you compare each other's snowflakes.
